

Master's Programme in English, specialising in Transnational Creative Writing
(120 university credits), Autumn 2017

Welcome to the Master's Programme in English, with a Specialisation in Transnational Creative Writing at the Department of English, Stockholm University.

The first term of studies consist of:

- two obligatory courses in your main field of study (English): Narrative Design and Short Story Theory (15 credits) starting in August, and Aesthetics & Craft in Transnational Writing I (7.5 ECTS credits) starting in late October. Both these courses are given by the Department of English.
- a course that is obligatory within all MA programmes at the Faculty of Humanities at Stockholm University: Scientific Method and Research Ethics (7.5 ECTS credits), given by the Department of Philosophy.

Further information, including full schedules and literature, for courses given on advanced level by the Department of English is available on our website. The study plan for the programme is also on our website with details of the obligatory courses after the first term (note that the course English for Academic Research will be taken in term 3, as opposed to term 2)

Information about the course given by the Department of Philosophy is available on their website.

Introductory events and registration

On Monday 28 August at 9 am, you are invited to a meeting for all new MA students at the Department of English. The meeting will take place in room E890 (Staff room, 8th floor of the E-building in Södra Huset) and will be an opportunity for us to get acquainted with each other and for any questions that you may have.

The Faculty of Humanities is organising an Introduction Day for all new MA students at the Faculty. This is on 25 August at 2 pm in the room "Bergsmannen" in Aula Magna. We recommend that you attend.

Please note that you must register for the programme in August. Online registration for the obligatory courses (and thereby the MA programme) will be open between 10 and 20 August. You can register online if you have an activated university account and are accepted to the programme without conditions. Instructions on how to register online is available on the Department of English website.

If you don't have an activated university account, you can activate it online but only if you have a Swedish national identification number. Information for international students on how to active your account will be provided during the University Orientation Week but is also available on the Stockholm University website. Orientation week is designed to introduce international students to the University and studies in Sweden, with an Orientation Day in the afternoon of 25 August.

If you need assistance with registration, you are welcome to come in to our Department (room E839 or E832, house E, floor 8) on 25 August between 11 am and 12 noon and we will assist you. Please bring a valid photo ID. Please also note that if you have been conditionally accepted to the programme, the conditions need to have been fulfilled for you to commence your studies. If you are unsure of the conditions, please contact the coordinator or our Student Affairs Office (contact details below).

We look forward to meeting you at the start of term.
